SILVER AND GREENBACKS.

Ben Butler's Views Upon Current Issues.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The following is a brief synopsis of General Butler's speech delivered yesterday. The house stand in committee of the whole on the state of the union, Mr. Eden in the chair, and Mr. Butler proceeded to make his speech.

Mr. Butler declared himself for the fuller restoration of silver to the coinage of the country, and that every debt of the Union, if still now existing, which could be paid by the silver dollar as now proposed, was to be paid by the law.

In regard to the point of dishonesty towards the public of private credit, he asked that neither a war, a civil, distinct or wrong to provide by law that the debt should pay back all he received, with interest, on the discharge of a money debt. The same dollar which pays the poor man's debt should equally cancel the rich man's demand.

Therefore the assembly cannot make or change laws either by enactment or by construction.

Hodge who is quoted by both parties in this controversy, and therefore admitted to be an authority, says that these bodies are not legislative but only courts; and that the powers of these are not legislative but only judicial and executive.

Our learned and revered doctor, while he was giving his fourth speech in the regular press, had thought proper to answer the question propounded to him by your correspondent signing himself "Inquirer" in your issue of the 23d inst., it would not have been necessary for me to quote the question. The doctor has not yet replied to the question, nor for opinions, nor for repetitions of what he has said again and again, nor for evidence against the lectures or "Inquisitor" asked.

1. "Is there a law governing the Presbyterian church which says, 'Thou shalt not dance'?"

2. "Is it in the teachings of the Westminster assembly?"

3. "Is it upon what page?"

4. "Is it in the Confession of Faith?"

5. "Is it upon what page?"

6. "Is it in the Bible?"

7. "Is it in what book, what chapter, what verse?"

Here the doctor is asked for the law governing the church in this matter, not for deliverance, conjecture or strained construction; but naked simple law, the law governing the church. He has not thought proper to point to any place where the Westminster divines or the general assembly of Presbyterians, or the Bible contains any such law.

But Dr. Leitch has found what he deems to be the law, having its source in authority, other than the Bible, or the Confession of Faith. Let me give it to you in your language, and you will then be in a position to tell us how much authority the law has over us.

After failing to find it in the Bible, or in the Confession of Faith, or catechisms, he has read after but two authorities who are to be the law, having its source in authority, other than the Bible, or the Confession of Faith.

POLITICALLY, Schurz may be said to be becaimed.

A CONUNDRUM for Mr. Hayes—DO POLITICS excuse crime?

BLANTON DUNCAN probably has his eye on the presidency.

JOHN SHERMAN is not frightened now, but he is very mad.

The question is now asked, what is a battle? Where is John Pope? He ought to know.

A LOUISIANA jury have convicted Anderson. Does Governor Nicholls propose to acquit him?

To what offices of honor and profit will Mr. Hayes appoint Kinnard and Cassanova after they are convicted?

The Washington Evening Star has come to be a very Noyes silver organ. It sometimes happens that recruits come in too late.

BETWEEN the Louisiana prosecutions and the silver bill Mr. Hayes and his remarkable cabinet are now experiencing their old-time hilarity.

The explanation of General Gordon shows that Mr. Hill was born to be misunderstood and misrepresented by the newspapers.

WHAT is the use of sustaining and patronizing a federal government that has no power to interfere in the prosecution of a parcel of knaves and rogues?

Mr. JAMES GORDON BENNETT, the able paragrapher of the New York Herald, is going to search for the north pole, and wants to fly the American flag. This is a good idea.

Mr. Hayes and his cabinet begin to worry too much over the Louisiana prosecutions, the house of representatives might inaugurate a little fun by investigating the electoral fraud.

THE most hopeful sign of the hour is that Brick Pomeroy claims that he wasn't well treated at the recent greenback convention in Toledo. This is a new view of the case.

CURRENT information is to the effect that the Hayes cabinet is very indignant over Louisiana matters. It is really too bad that rogues should be convicted.

It wasn't for Mr. Everts's desultory remarks, the Hayes cabinet would have time to play croquet of evenings. As it is, it is a very lucky event if they have a chance to go to bed.

Nicholls concludes to pardon the returning board felons, he should turn over his office to Packard. If rogues and perjurers are to be pardoned, they should be pardoned by the right man.

WHEN the average Englishman wants to get even with Russia he goes around and heaves a brick through Mr. Gladstone's back window. In this way only is it possible for Great Britain to protect her eastern interests.

SENATOR THURMAN says Mr. Hayes was inaugurated, but never elected. Bill Chandler ought to be a pretty good witness in a matter of this kind. However, we are perfectly kind. To wake Senator Thurman's word for it.

SENATOR DAVID DAVIS seems to be coming over to the democratic side by sections. He voted unanimously for Thurman to be pro tempore president of the senate. We trust the veteran convert will be received with open arms.

It is hinted that Mr. Hayes will write a "personal letter" to Governor Nichols, of Louisiana, protesting against the trial and conviction of the returning board felons. If this is true, Mr. Hayes is a very popular candidate for impeachment.

Mr. CHALMERS, of Mississippi, is evidently at sea. He says the returning board felons should be pardoned after conviction, but not before. Chalmers seems to forget that a criminal who is pardoned immediately upon conviction deserves the acquittal.

JOHN SHERMAN, the great American political sneak, is gradually getting Mr. Hayes into the worst kind of business. We make this remark advisedly, knowing that the Chicago Inter-Ocean will catch it up and say we are denouncing the capable president.

We are the men.
We are the philanthropists.
We are the Public Benefactors.
We are the men who do business for the good of the public, and not for our own profit.
We are the brave innovators who smashed the great monopoly (after its back-bone was broken) and compelled others (who had no desire to do differently) to come down. Oho!

CRAGGE & CO., 43 Whitehall Street, were the first to place a first class Sewing Machine within the reach of the people at the present low prices.

$1,000 REWARD!

If we cannot prove that we were months ahead of those who claim to have originated the "great reduction."

THURSDAY MORNING FEBRUARY 28, 1878

THROUGH THE CITY.

NEWS GLIMPSES FROM OUR REPORTERS' NOTE BOOKS.

SIDEWALK NOTES.

The big masquerade-to-night.—The Mardi Gras fever has begun.—The amateur minstrels still live.—Heavy freight on all the roads.—The oyster's reign is nearly gone.

Atlanta needs at least one fine drive, and we hope to see it soon.

An effort will be made to induce Bright to return to our city soon.

The medical college will turn out a fine class to-morrow.

Farmers are up in the city almost every day to hire hands for their plantations.

The Western and Atlantic railroad requires engines to do its business.

Willis Roegan has a trotter which will, we learn, be put in training this spring.

—The "Closer to my Bosom Come," lecture, was well received.

The hotels are well filled with strangers from the north.

No Charley Ross was found yesterday that we could learn of.

—Peachtree street is where the fashion and beauty stroll every afternoon.

The boys talk of organizing a sabre club.

Quite a number of young gentlemen in this city own private yachts.

The wind yesterday managed to stir up all the dust upon our streets.

The merchants say that they have done a heavy business this year in every line of trade.

—There are more gray horses in Atlanta than there are in any other city in the state.

—A number of our young ladies left by the Central railroad yesterday for Macon to attend a shop there bought.

Owing to Mr. Clayton's continued sickness he will not go to the lecture to-morrow.

The Atlanta Cotton Field misnaries are booked to play at Cartersville, in the new opera house on Saturday night next.

—Why don't one of our amateur minstrels give us another show of their best stuff?

The Melodeon Boog seems to be a feature in the past with no prospect of a repetition.

—There will be a large candy pulling in Malets soon, at which a number of the young folks of Atlanta will be present.

Parties wanting good board can obtain it at $7 at Malets street, at the Womersole and board.

—Our people are of the opinion that $1 is enough for a reserved seat to any theater that ever comes to these parts.

—Emigrants continue to pass through daily. The western wild goose chase is not yet ended.

—Every little nook in Atlanta is too small for anything else used for scabbler's hop.

—A number of Kentucky drovers, with considerable stock, arrived last night. Trading in their line is very lively.

—Reserved seats for Sothen will be on sale to-morrow. They will go like hot cakes.

ABOUT THREE THOUSAND

WENT INTO OUR MARKET,

the absence of the better grades being much felt by the buyers in filling their orders.

—THE FALLING OFF

in grade being unlooked for, our buyers found themselves without a place for the poor grades. The market closed quiet at 10 cents for middling.

—The whole month of February, thus far, has been dull and the market drooping with the life or animation and until the last few days a large quantity of strict to strict ordinary cottons found their market.

—THE SOUTHERN POED

receiving but few shipments. The latter part of the month, our market became quiet on account of the holidays, closing steady and unchanged.

—The month of January saw but little change for the better grades, the market being dull and the market drooping with the life or animation and until the last few days a large quantity of strict to strict ordinary cottons found their market.

—THE FALLING OFF

in grade being unlooked for, our buyers found themselves without a place for the poor grades. The market closed quiet at 10 cents for middling.

—The whole month of February, thus far, has been dull and the market drooping with the life or animation and until the last few days a large quantity of strict to strict ordinary cottons found their market.
